UNNATURAL CAUSES:
IS INEQUALITY MAKING US SICK?

Part 7 of a 7 part series
"Not Just a Paycheck"

This session explores that residents of western Michigan struggle against depression, domestic violence and higher rates of heart disease and diabetes after the largest refrigerator factory in the country shuts down. Ironically, the plant is owned by a company in Sweden, where mass layoffs—far from devastating lives—are relatively benign because of government policies that protect and retrain workers.
